A Star Without Equal

For a few years now, I have had a theory about the Honorable Minister Louis Farrakhan concerning when the Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad told him, “You have no equal.” This statement that the Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad made to the Minister has always stood out to me, and I have felt that there was more to it beneath the surface. What I mean is that the studies I have been privileged to make from the teachings of the Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad have given me a sense that this statement carried a unique gravity. It drew other elements and subjects from his lessons toward it, which could help explain and shed more light on why the minister is a star without equal.

A Star Without Equal

In an interview with Buzz Anderson in 1964, the Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad stated that when the first star came about, it was essential to our well-being. Let us consider the word "essential." Essential means absolutely necessary, something fundamental and required for a particular purpose or function. Next, consider the word "well-being." Well-being refers to the state of being comfortable, healthy, and happy. It encompasses physical, mental, and emotional aspects of a person's life, describing an overall sense of flourishing or balance. The Honorable Elijah Muhammad stated that the first star came about six trillion years after the Sun, one single star at first. If we consider six trillion years after the Sun's making, which, according to Brother Minister Jabril Muhammad, took place 78 trillion years ago and it took two trillion years for it to grow to its full size, thus completing 76 trillion years ago. Next, if we calculate from the Sun's beginning, 78 trillion years ago, the first star appeared six trillion years later. Thus, the first star emerged 72 trillion years ago. This 72 is a very interesting number.

A Star Without Equal

When the first star was produced out of the cold, dark womb of space this could refer to the one convert that the Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad was allowed to produce, which is the Minister. According to an account I heard from 1972, the Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad told the Minister that he has no equal. This was in reference to the Honorable Minister Louis Farrakhan designing an FOI uniform. Then the Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad told him to remove the moon from the flag because he has no equal. It was in this year that he called the Minister forward and placed him in his seat as the star, just as that first star 72 trillion years ago was called out of darkness into being. It was also this same year that the Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad elevated him in front of the believers with the famous words: "Go where he tells you to go; stay away from where he tells you to stay away from." It seems that this same process is happening spiritually in the Minister's life.

Now, I raise the question: If the first star that was produced 72 trillion years ago was essential to our well-being, then is this also true with the Minister? And if he is, does this reflect in the reward that Master Fard Muhammad will give the Minister, including a glorified body? The Most Honorable Elijah Muhammad stated, Master Fard Muhammad may intend to go back to the root and produce a people who can live 1200 Earth years, like the people on Mars, with the youthfulness and vigor of a 16-year-old. If the Minister is given a glorified body, then that would reflect the importance of his work that he has yet to do amongst us that is essential to our well-being. I believe it's worthy to examine if this glorified body is given can, then the work of the minister that is essential to our well-being and the resurrection of our people is definitely something to consider from an angle we have yet to perceive or understand. The work to be done by him begins the process of our being made the new and perfect rulers, as stated in the original rules of instruction number three.
